EUROCOALASH 2010

2nd EUROCOALASH Conference

COPENHAGEN

May 27-28, 2010

EUROCOALASH Conference 2010

Motive of the conference and its 5 important subjects

The aim of the international conference EUROCOALASH is to highlight the importance of using Coal Combustion Products (CCPs) in Europe. The EUROCOALASH conference 2010 will deal with the legal and practical issues for the production of Coal Combustion Products and its beneficial use in the construction industries, e.g. cement-, concrete-, asphalt-, plasterboard-, road building- and mining industry and will encourage a substantial increase in the utilization of CCPs as raw material.

Experts from the industry will report about these important issues. For the conference five ambitions have been suggested:

- More than 90% utilization of all hard coal/lignite ash and desulphurization gypsum produced by the power industry in every European country
- Substantial increase in the use of CCPs as raw material with focus on the construction industry
- Development of new business opportunities for the construction industry based on mutual industrial research
- Ensuring future availability of high quality CCPs to all industries using these products
- Further improvements of qualities complying with international and industry standards for CCPs

A poster presentation will cover the results of the recent research work from European universities dealing with the properties and use of CCPs in different applications. The poster session is located next to the conference room.
